Inetum France and TDF are Working Together to Develop Local Hosting Solutions

Inetum France and TDF announce a partnership aimed at strengthening data hosting services in France. This collaboration will enable them to meet the growing needs of businesses for local hosting services.

Inetum, a European leader in digital services and solutions, and TDF, a leading industrial player in digital infrastructure, are working together to offer businesses comprehensive hosting solutions. This partnership aims to meet the growing needs of businesses for local digital infrastructure by offering tailor-made, secure, and high-energy-density solutions (up to 150 kW/rack).

A shared Ambition for Sovereign, Local Hosting

The rise of hybrid cloud technology; growing demands in terms of data sovereignty and energy performance; and increasingly sensitive use cases that require ever greater computing power are driving companies to seek flexible and resilient hosting solutions that closely match their needs.

As a leading French industrial player, TDF supports large companies, operators, and local authorities in the deployment of digital infrastructures throughout the country from five regional data centers along with its ability to deploy new customized data centers in mainland France and overseas. Inetum's technological expertise will enable TDF to accelerate the development of offerings tailored to strategic sectors such as:

- Local hosting to meet the reduced latency and resilience needs of local businesses.
- Disaster Recovery Plans and Dual Sites, offering secure and redundant solutions.
- High-density hosting, suitable for power-hungry applications such as AI and Big Data.
- Tailor-made solutions, including specific infrastructure requirements for the industrial, healthcare, and banking/insurance sectors.

Philippe Bécane, Managing Director of Inetum France Integration & Outsourcing, said: "This partnership with TDF marks an important step in our commitment to providing local data hosting solutions. Thanks to our technological expertise and our ability to design tailor-made infrastructures, we are perfectly positioned to meet the specific needs of businesses in terms of performance, security, and resilience. Together, we will create innovative solutions that will enable businesses to thrive in an ever-changing digital environment."

Rémi de Montgolfier, Director of Data Center Offerings at TDF, added: "This partnership with Inetum will enable us to strengthen our position as a major player in digital infrastructure in France. By combining our extensive network of strategic sites and industrial know-how with Inetum's technological expertise, we are able to offer hosting solutions that meet the growing demands for sovereignty and energy performance of large French companies."
