Double recognition for Inetum Spain at the Microsoft Partner of the Year Awards 2025

The awards for Best Security Partner and Best Surface Partner reflect Inetum's commitment to protection, productivity and innovation in digital environments.

The Partner of the Year Awards are the most prestigious awards that Microsoft gives to its partners globally. They recognise excellence in innovation and in the implementation of solutions based on Microsoft technologies, rewarding organisations that have demonstrated an exceptional impact on the digital transformation of their customers and on the technological ecosystem.

Inetum Spain has won two awards in this year's 2025 edition: Best Security Partner and Best Surface Partner. This recognition positions the European technology consultancy as a leading company and consolidates its position as a benchmark in digital solutions and technological transformation.

The Best Security Partner award recognises Inetum's ability to deliver advanced solutions that ensure comprehensive protection for organisations. Thanks to its expertise in identity, data protection and device security, together with the integration of technologies such as Microsoft Azure Security and managed services, the company has helped its customers migrate to secure and resilient digital environments. The Best Surface Partner award highlights Inetum's work in integrating devices, as part of comprehensive solutions for modern work environments.

"This double recognition highlights the strength of our partnership with Microsoft and the commitment of the Inetum team not only to leading digital transformation, but also to helping our clients generate value for their own customers. We do this by orchestrating data and processes with AI agents, ensuring security, innovation and excellence," explains Juan Carlos Crespo, Director of Inetum Solutions in Iberia Latam.

"These awards not only reflect the trust our clients place in us but also underscore the strong alignment between Microsoft and Inetum in shaping the future of digital transformation. Our ambition is to remain the trusted partner that empowers organizations to tackle their most strategic challenges, leveraging robust Microsoft solutions to deliver tangible outcomes and unlock new possibilities for growth," explains Hemant Lamba, CEO of Inetum Solutions.

This achievement reinforces Inetum's commitment to continue advancing alongside Microsoft, exploring new opportunities and creating solutions that drive digital transformation and generate a digital impact on society.
