Philippe Becane appointed Director of the Integration & Outsourcing Business Line at Inetum France Technologies

- Philippe Becane brings 30 years experience in infrastructure and application operations.
- He joins the French Management Committee, reporting directly to Normann Hodara, CEO Inetum France.

Inetum, European leader in digital services and solutions, announces the appointment of Philippe Becane as Director of the Integration & Outsourcing (I&O) Business Line within Inetum France Technologies.

Normann Hodara, CEO of Inetum France: "I'm delighted to welcome Philippe Becane to our team. His expertise and skills will be invaluable assets for Inetum. I'm convinced that Philippe will successfully develop the Integration & Outsourcing Business Line and make a significant contribution to our transformation and sustainable growth."

In his new role, Philippe will continue with the development of the Integration & Outsourcing Business Line, which boasts 3,000 experts dedicated to helping their customers succeed in the implementation of key digital projects. Working closely with the Group's other Business Lines, Philippe and his teams will enable I&O to pursue its sustainable growth based on a business-oriented, industrialized and scalable foundation. He will ensure that operations run smoothly at the level of service expected by our key account and SME customers. He will make them more efficient with increasingly homogeneous practices, industrialization at scale, the acceleration of nearshore, and the use of AI.

Before joining Inetum, Philippe trained as an engineer (INSA) and worked for companies such as Capgemini and Sopra-Steria. There, he acquired solid experience in operations linked to infrastructures, applications and middleware, and public, private and hybrid cloud transformations. He has held a number of positions in France and Europe: in pre-sales and strategic deal management, operations management, service center management but also complex programs, as well as P&L responsibility in contexts with industrialization challenges.
